

Endavo Media Management System (EMMS) – Release Notes

Release Date: October 29, 2025

This release introduces a new member access management feature, allowing platform admins to create private member groups and control access to specific channels with greater precision.

New & Updated Features

Private Member Groups & Channel Access Control: Admin users can now create and manage 'Member Groups' within EMMS. A Member Group can now be assigned to specific channels (vs. all members), restricting access exclusively to members of the assigned private Member Group. This new feature enhances content security and supports the creation of exclusive, member-only channels for community-based audiences. A use case example might be certain channels that have informational or instructional content that should only be available for certain members to access. Your Endavo account can have unlimited Member Groups for various private member-only use cases and channels.

If you have any questions about these updates or would like assistance using the new features, please contact our support team.